Perfect Success.
Those two words have a vast meaning when fully comprehended. A perfect success can be truthfully applied to Dr. Jones' Red Clover tonic, which cures dyspepsia, biliousness, costiveness, all diseases of the kidneys, liver and bladder. It is a perfect tonic and blood purifier; it keeps the skin clear and bright, drives away pimples and makes the general health excellent. Price 50 cents,

An exchange gravely asserts that at Benton Harbor the days are gradually growing shorter, and the nights are being correspondingly lengthened out. How strange and how sad.

A few evenings since Miss Clapp, John's daughter, was out driving and hitched her horse to make a friendly call, when some miserable, low-lived, sneak-thief stole a fine whip from her carriage.

Mike Brophy, who has for some time past been at work for Mr. James Bennett in his restaurant, has gone into the well business. Mike says he has a good kit of tools, a large experience, and prefers to furnish people with cold water instead of fire-water.

Certain circles in our village are in a state of feverish excitement over certain fluid correspondence which has recently taken place between some of our prominent men and D. Fisher Esq., of Kalamazoo. We think it behooves Mr. F. to put in a personal appearance and make needed and appropriate explanations.

A few days ago Russie Gillespie of Antwerp, while out in the yard, was startled at her horse to make a friendly call, when some
whip from her carriage.

Necessary arrangements have been made by which tickets for Chicago may be purchased here via Hartford, Benton Harbor and the lake. A trip by this route costs only half as much as by the usual route, and in pleasant weather is a most delightful excursion. A person can leave here at half past two p. m., and taking the boat at Benton Harbor leave at nine p. m., have a good night's rest and find himself in Chicago early the next morning.

A meeting of the National Driving Park Association will be held in Kalamazoo, July 10, 11, 12 and 13 inst. There are 110 entries for the races, among which are St. Julian, Overman, Edwin Thorn, Wilson, Black Cloud, Alexander, Trinkel, Clingstone, Cyclone, Little Brown Jug, Buffalo Bill, Flora Belle and Fuller. $40,000 have been expended on the buildings, grounds and track, and the meeting is expected to be one of the greatest events that ever took place in this country, in the sporting world.

In the recent case of the people vs. Cooper, where the respondent plead guilty to a charge of bigamy, and made a statement to the court which charged his wife Phoebe Cooper with perjury, and Austin Herrick, an attorney at Bangor, with unprofessional conduct, Prosecuting Attorney Chandler was ordered to make an investigation. Mr.
Chandler has filed his report, which states that Cooper is a man whose reputation for truth and veracity is bad, that he was a drunkard, and that there is no proof to sus-tain any charges against Mr. Herrick or against Mrs. Cooper, each of whom are fully exonerated by the report.

On Tuesday last we had the pleasure of visiting the fruit farm of Mr. Lawrence Martin of Antwerp. His farm is situated just at the top of the hill this side of Lawton, and lays on either side of the railroad.
By riding past on the cars one would suppose it was a light sandy farm, but such is not the case, on the contrary, it is a gravelly loam, of excellent quality. Mr. Martin has the largest cherry orchard in the state, all of the Early Richmond variety. Every tree is heavily laden with rich red fruit, and his orchards present one of the finest displays of fruit we ever saw. There is scarcely a wormy cherry in the orchard. Mr. M. has thirty hands employed in picking and packing the fruit, which commands the very highest market price. His success is due to the thorough manner in which he attends to his crop from the time the blossoms put forth, until the cherries are harvested and marketed.

Alumni Banquet.
In place of their usual annual picnic, the Alumni Association of the Paw Paw High school this year decided to hold a banquet, with appropriate literary exercises. The time decided upon was Friday evening, June 29th, and arrangements were made securing rooms at the Dyckman House.

The evening was all that could be desired, being a delightful contrast to the stormy night which preceded it, on which the commencement exercises took place.

At the appointed hour—half-past eight, —the members of the society began to assemble. The pleasant parlors of the Dyckman House were soon filled with the Alumni and their friends, a number being present from abroad. Prof's Dunham and Hitchcock gladdened the hearts of their former pupils and their many friends, by participating in the festivities of the evening.

exercises were concluded by instrumental music by Miss Grace Sellick.

In a short time, supper was announced, and the company repaired to the dining hall where a very fine repast was served, reflecting much credit upon the landlord, Mr. Longwell, and his excellent lady.

It had been intended to continue the exercises by having several appropriate toasts and responses, but owing to the fact that the entire company could not be accommodated at one time in the dining room, it was thought best to omit this part of the programme. This was much regretted by nearly all who were in attendance, as the toasts and responses promised to be very entertaining.

At quite a late hour the company dispersed, after spending a most enjoyable evening. It is to be hoped that this banquet is but the beginning of a series, which, if properly arranged and carried out, may be made very agreeable social events.

Commencement Exercises.

The annual commencement exercises of the Paw Paw High school were held at Long-well's Opera house, on Thursday evening of last week, and with the exception of a few things that good taste and good judgement would have left unsaid, the affair was a success, and the essays, orations, and declama-tions evinced thought, study, culture, and talent. Notwithstanding the fact that the rain poured down in torrents the house was well filled. Each of those who participated were made the recipients of elegant bouquets and baskets of flowers. The entertainment opened with a piano solo, followed by an appropriate prayer by Rev. W. C.
Burns. Essay, "The Changes of Time," read by Miss Lucia Ballou, was treated in an interesting manner and read in a clear and audible voice, that could be heard and understood by all.

The next thing on the programme was an oration by Mr. Michael Dorgan on "Education," but as he had had scanty time to prepare, he read an essay instead, which showed marked ability.

Essay, "Patriotism," read, or rather spoken, by Miss Clara Anderson. This was fine, and although quite lengthy, the young essayist had it so well committed to memory that he was wholly independent of her manuscript.

Declaration, "The Rum Mania," by Master Lynn Froe. The masterly manner in which he sustained the character of an insane votary of rum, evinced a talent for oratory and action, seldom seen in a lad of his years.

Essay, "Trifles," by Miss Leona Johnson, which was exceedingly well read. The fair essayist maintained that even "Trifles, light as air," ought not to be wholly disregarded, for they were often of more value and importance than they seemed.

Recitation, "The Polish Boy," by Miss May Dyer, who acted well her part.

Oration, "A Passing Glimpse," by Mr. Wm.
Dorgan. This was spoken in a style peculiar to himself, and while some parts of it were well enough, other parts were made up of matters extremely inappropriate to such an occasion, and abandoned in statements wholly untrue, and which his own good sense should have taught him had better been omitted, and which ought to have been rigidly excluded by the principal of the school, who had the exercises in charge.

Our only graduate, Miss Cora Ruggles, then recited her essay which bore the singular title "Sweet Wine Makes Sour Vinegar." This essay, like that of Miss Anderson, was long, but so thoroughly learned, that the manuscript served only for ornament. The manner in which Miss Ruggles treated her subject, showed much thought and deep study and would have reflected credit on a person of maturer years and larger experience. Professor Cupples, after a few appropriate remarks then presented her with her diploma.

This concluded the programme as laid down, but the High school, desiring to show its appreciation of the services of their principal, had procured an elegant volume to be presented to Mr. Cupples, and had chosen Wm. Dorgan to make the presentation speech.
This matter, had it been properly managed, would have been a very pleasant affair. But in making the presentation, Mr. Dorgan saw fit to use language which was both offensive and insulting to the school board and to the very able corps of teachers belonging to the school, all of whom, with one or two exceptions, were present and on the stage. The occasion of these remarks was the fact that the board, in the exercise of its best judgment, had seen fit not to retain Mr. Cupples as principal for another year. He alluded to a conspiracy to bring about this result, which had no shadow of existence outside of his own wild imagination. The remarks of Mr. Cupples in accepting the gift did not tend in any degree to mend matters, but rather had the contrary effect. Taken all in all, this impromptu presentation was a most unfortunate affair, and if any lingering doubts remained in the minds of any of the members of the board regarding the wisdom of their action they were, doubtless, most effectually dispelled.

The exercises were interspersed with music both vocal and instrumental, rendered by some of Paw Paw's finest players and singers, which largely added to the enjoyment and interest of the occasion.

Arlington.
Miss Josie Donoran's school is taking its summer vacation.
